Trade Execution, Arbitrage and Dealing in Australia Alex Frino 2008 A large portion of trading activity in financial markets involves brokers, arbitrageurs and dealers or market makers. The aim of this book is to provide a rigorous yet practical treatment of the principles underlying these types of trading activity. A large and growing body of research in finance deals with such activity, and appears in the literature commonly referred to as the security market microstructure literature. The book provides a review of the securities market microstructure literature concerned with trade execution, arbitrage and market making. Wherever possible, the principles developed in research are illustrated through worked examples and illustrations.

Introduction to Futures and Options

Markets in Australia Alex Frino 2004-11

Introduction to Futures and Options Markets in Australia is the only text of its kind dedicated to a thorough treatment of Australian futures and options. It provides a detailed analysis of the major products in the Australian market as well as a discussion of the market itself. In conjunction with the Sydney Futures Exchange (SFE), the text introduces SFE contracts, and through concrete examples, describes their pricing and use in speculation, hedging and arbitrage. There are a significant number of subtleties in Australian futures and options contracts, and this means that the treatment of futures and options markets provided in other texts has its limitations. Introduction to Futures and Options Markets in Australia aims to address these limitations, thus making it an ideal complement to any futures and options text.
